Religion and Attitudes towards Life in South Africa

Helga Dickow

Pentecostals, Charismatics and Reborns

In collaboration with Petra Bauerle, Theodor Hanf and Valerie Møller
Studien zu Ethnizität, Religion und Demokratie herausgegeben von

Theodor Hanf
Jakob Rösel

Band 13
Helga Dickow

Religion and Attitudes towards Life in South Africa

Pentecostals, Charismatics and Reborns

In collaboration with Petra Bauerle, Theodor Hanf and Valerie Møller
Translated by John Richardson

Nomos
Contents

The glue of a new society? 9
Introduction 9
Method 10
From single-church dominance to plurality: South Africa's church landscape 11
Dutch Reformed Churches 12
Other Protestant and Reformed Churches 14
Roman Catholic Church 15
African Indigenous/Initiated/Independent Churches 15
Old and New Pentecostal Churches 17

Charismatic churches as perceived by their leaders and observers 21
Method 21
Prototype: Genesis and structure of a charismatic church 28
Foundation and history 28
Growth 29
Composition of the membership 30
Organisation and leadership structures 31
Training 35
Church services 36
Altar call 38
Theology 39
Emphasis on the Holy Spirit 41
Attempts to differentiate: Pentecostal – charismatic 42
Cohesion 46
Cell group 46
Voluntary functions and integration of members into church life 47
Exploiting the new media 49
National and international organisation 49
Financing 51
Personal growth and affinity of Prosperity Theology 52
Networking 52
Potential for prosperity 53
Churches as substitutes for state institutions 56
Social functions 56
Training and continuing education 57
Getting youth off the street 57
Religion and politics 58
Consequences of the experiences of the apartheid era 58
Churches in the new South Africa 60
Controversial issues 62
South African constitution 63
Homosexuality/Abortion 64
Death penalty 65

Vagaries 66
Leadership/Abuse of power 67
Succession planning 69
Gender issues 70

On the appeal of the new charismatic churches 70
Self-assessment 70
Assessment by other churches 74
Summary 78

Representative survey of South Africa 81
Map of society: The social and economic break-down of the sample 81
The sociocultural break-down within the population groups 84
Does gender matter? 87
Peculiarities in marital status 87
Respondents’ age structure 88
Socio-economic break-down, urban-rural dichotomy and break-down by province 89
Education, occupation and income – mutually reinforcing factors also in South Africa 91

Religious communities – religious diversity through immigration and political emancipation 92
Denomination and social characteristics 94
Reborns and changing church 97

Religious perceptions and practices, religion and politics 101
Religiosity 102
Religious tolerance and practice 107
Religion and politics 110

Charismatic orientations and patterns of belief 116
Changes as a result of being reborn 116
Self-experience and the appeal of the Charismatic Church 118
Theological orientations among Christians 124
Identities 128
People’s perceptions of themselves 128
Perceptions of other groups 132
Interreligious and interethnic marriages 133
Perceptions of differences and coexistence 135
Perceptions of conflict 135
Ethnic and cultural diversity 136
Social and economic perceptions 140
Factors of success and scarcities 140
Work, working environment and personal expectations 143
Social differences 147
Psychosocial attitudes 153
Fear or confidence in the future 153
Powerlessness and change 157
Political orientations 159
Political information and perceptions of political problems 159
South African politicians and their followers 166
South Africa's political party landscape and the social profile of their voters 169
Opinions on the political order 175
Democratic attitudes 176
Attitudes on political systems and administration 179
Forms of resistance and protest 182
Special sample: Grace Bible Church.
Comparison between members of a New Pentecostal/Charismatic Church and other Christians in Gauteng 184
Grace Bible Church 185
Itineraries: Paths leading to Grace Bible Church 185
Reasons for change of denomination 187
More religious than others 188
Have more fundamental beliefs than others 189
More socially engaged than others 191
Social capital and outlook on life 192
Status consciousness 196
Political orientations 197
Outlook on the future 198
Conclusion 199
Comparison between the representative sample and the sub-sample of charismatics and members of Grace Bible Church 202

Bibliography 207